Ban Placed On Punch Boards And All Base Ball Pools

Ten local business men were hailed before Burgess Dunlap last evening, charged with permitting gambling in their establishments by the use of punch boards. The prisoners included several pool room men and the small confectioners about town. Numerous complaints have been made about the punch boards, which have grown to such extent that the owner is not satisfied with giving away a box of candy as a prize, but instead places diamond rings with a cash value, watches and many other pieces of jewelry that run into hundreds of dollars.

Burgess Dunlap had sent letters some time ago to thirty-four men, notifying them of the law in regards to the punch boards, but they evidently paid little attention to the warning, as games of chance of all description were found in operation in practically every place visited yesterday, while several others had only quit operation within the past month.

At the hearing last evening they were informed of the law in the case and the fine they were liable to and in addition, the pool room men were notified that their license could be revoked. All but two plead guilty to the charges brought against them, and the burgess explained that it would not be necessary to call any witnesses, as he had seen the boards in operation in nearly all the places. He did not wish to fine them this time but discharged them with a warning that the next time a general raid would be conducted, the boards confiscated and the proprietors arrested and given the full penalty. He warned the men that all games of chance, base ball pools, etc., came under the order and must be stopped. The base ball pools have operated here during the summer on a large scale and when the Pittsburgh pools were in operation, it is estimated that at least $2,000 was taken out of the town each week, while several of those who held winners are still waiting on their money.

Entertained Choir

Mrs. F. E. Bogart entertained the members of the Christian church choir at her home on Donner avenue last evening. A literary and musical program was a feature of the evening's entertainment. Among the guests present were Jessie Bunting, Thelma Kennedy, Ola Mae Gribben, Gustav. Kruell, Marie Boyd, and J. F. Bowers, A. B. Lay, Byron Arnold, C. F. Phillips, Joe Underwood and Ben Hughes.

Auto Truck Backs Into Residence

When the large auto truck of the Cook Transfer company of this city was being towed up the Fourth street hill in Charleroi at noon today, by another auto, the rope broke, and the truck ran back down the hill at a terrific rate and crashed into the residence of Mrs. Carson.

A hole ten feet in diameter was made in the house and Mrs. Jewel, who was sitting in the dining room, received a bad cut on her head by flying glass The truck broke down while making a trip in Charleroi and was being hauled to a blacksmith shop for repairs when the accident happened. Charleroi Church Threatened By Fire

The St. Jerome's Roman Catholic church at Charleroi was threatened by destruction by a fire Wednesday morning, which started in a cupboard. In the morning a funeral was held and charcoal used. It is supposed one of the altar boys in an effort to save some of the charcoal removed a piece from a censor and placed it with other charcoal in a box in the cupboard. Evidently a spark remained, starting a smouldering fire. Boys noticed the smoke issuing from a door and Rev. W. D. Fries, the pastor was notified. With the aid of a man who was working nearby, he extinguished the blaze. The flames were confined entirely to the cupboard, but valuable altar cloths and candles were destroyed. The altar cloths were of fine material with hand made lace borders and were alone valued at $200. The blaze was extinguished with a loss of about $300 to the sacristy.

Mr. Dague sold his half interest in lots 483 and 485 on Donner avenue to Mr. Hagerson for $10,000.

Harding Arrested

William Harding, a well known local man, was arrested Wednesday in Greensburg on a charge of being drunk. He was picked up on the streets by an officer, and when given a hearing stated that he had too much booze and ought to have better sense. His job for the present at Greensburg is gone, as he was sent to his cell for twenty-four hours.

Horse Races Attracting Thousands

Fully five thousand persons were in attendance at the races at Belle Vernon yesterday, and a number of new track records were established with an average time of 2 13¼ for fifteen heats Betting was brisk on each event and the bookies made a cleanup when several favorites did not place after taking the first heats in easy fashion.

Pickpockets are busy in the vicinity of the track and at the street car stations and several persons have reported the loss of small sums of money. One man had a fat wallet containing $84.00 taken from his hip pocket yesterday afternoon. The hotels and boarding houses at Belle Vernon are crowded with followers of the horses, while many persons have pitched tents on the grounds and are camping for the week The Pennsylvania railroad have added extra coaches to all trains and large crowds are attending each day from up river points and Uniontown. The P. & L. E. railroad is carrying the largest number of Pittsburgh people who make the trip each day.

The program has been continued until Saturday afternoon as a result of the wet weather on Tuesday and the 221 pace, 230 trot and 218 pace will be run off on this day for purses amounting to $1,200.

Firemens' Convention At Sharpsburg Next Week

A special meeting of the firemen will be held Sunday, at which time the delegates, Matthew Koch and Lee Bailey will receive instructions for the annual convention of the Volunteer Firemen of Western Pennsylvania which will be held at Sharpsburg next week. The two delegates will leave Monday to attend the business meeting, and on Thursday it is expected that at least twenty members of the company will go to Sharpsburg to witness the big parade of 12,000 uniformed firemen. It has been many years since the local company attended a convention as a body, although their water fighters and racing team has been sent on several occasions, but the expense was met by the firemen. In other towns the council generally donates enough money to meet the expenses, while other companies secure money through carnivals.

With all details complete for the welcoming of the delegates and visannual convention of the Western Pennsylvania Firemen's Association during the week of August 9-14, Sharpsburg is now preparing to make the event the greatest in the history of the old town.

To greet the visitors the borough has made preparations on a scale that would do credit to some of the larger cities of the state. Decorative schemes outlined by the business men's committee and the municipal thoroughfares will be a sea of bunting, streamers and colored pennants. Interspersed in this riot of colors will be an electrical display calling for double that ever paid by any other city for the same purpose. In all 15,000 feet of wiring and 5,000—30 watt lamps will diffuse vari-colored lights throughout the borough highways, Etna and Aspinwall will also be gaily decorated.

Thursday, August 12, about 150 companies with bands and 12,000 uniformed firemen will parade. They will form in Sharpsburg on all streets north of the railroad tracks, which gives about 19,000 feet for this purpose.

One of the largest carnivals in the country will be one of the attractions for the week. This company uses 42 cars in transporting its outfit, and members. In addition to this big amusement there will be 31 smaller shows. Over the whole amusement location will be a wondrous electric display, vari-colored lights festooned with electrically lighted and arranged streamers, pennants and flags of all nations.

Massacre of Dogs A Serious Problem

The announcement made by District Attorney Eicher on Wednesday that he would receive cards from the Pennsylvania Game commission, printed in various languages, to be posted throughout the county, notifying foreigners owning dogs that the canines must be disposed of or the owners subjected to a fine and imprisonment, created considerable stir not only among the foreigners having dogs, but justices of the peace and constables who will be expected to strictly enforce the law after due warning has been given. The act of the last Legislature which prohibits "any unnaturalized foreign-born resident of this commonwealth to hunt, capture or kill any wild bird or animal, either game or otherwise of any description, excepting in defense of person or property," therefore making it "unlawful for such persons to own or possess a dog of any kind," is causing much complaint on the part of the foreign population and their naturalized and native born friends. The penalty for each conviction is a fine of $25 and costs or one day in the county jail for each dollar fine.

A residence of 10 days within the county is sufficient to make any unnaturalized foreigner amendable to the law, and any game warden, constable, policeman or other peace officer may arrest any offender without a warrant. In such cases the whole of the fine goes to the State Treasury to be used in paying expense of the State Board of Game Commissioners. When the information is made by a private citizen, half the fine goes to such informant and the other half to the state treasury. Arrests in such cases may be made on Sunday.

Circus Coming

The only circus that will be presented to the public this year will be Jones Bros. Big Three Ring Wild Animal Circus with a whole army of notable artists brought direct from Europe, all absolutely new to American audiences. The show is spic and span, and the long line of steel trains owned by the management will carry an aggregation of the foremost artists of the world, and the largest collection of wild animals in captivity. One continuous whirl of ever changing surprises in which hundreds of persons take part, will embrace new features never before presented by a traveling circus. As an inovation the Jones Bros. will introduce an Amazon ballet of the world's most graceful dancers. These exquisitely formed young women, fresh from their Parisian triumphs, appear as if mounded by the sculptor' art.

Hundreds of high class acts are offered in the Arena, and the wild animals as usual will be a feature with Jones Bros. circus. Their already large collection has been augmented by a number of elephants, lions, camels and grizzly bears. A number of bands will furnish the music with the free street parade—a treat for the public. This is the circus that you are waiting for—the worth while circus. Don't forget that the date will be Wednesday, August 18th.

The BROKEN COIN by EMERSON HOUGH

From the Scenario by GRACE CUNARD

COPYRIGHT, 1915, BY WRIGHT A. PATTERSON

SYNOPSIS.

Kitty Gray, newspaper woman, finds in a curio shop half of a broken coin, the mutilated inscription on which arouses her curiosity and leads her, at the order of her managing editor, to go to the principality of Gretzhoffen to piece out the story suggested by the inscription. She is followed, and on arrival in Gretzhoffen her adventures while chasing the secret of the broken coin begin.

FIFTH INSTALLMENT

CHAPTER XVIII.

A New Intruder.

The keen senses of Roleau, schooled in peril, told him of some hidden danger—the very tenseness of the situation warning him. Turning, he saw the upraised weapon, and in a flash a blow from his own powerful arm had sent it flying through the window. It fell clinking on the floor at the feet of Count Sachio and his friends. Kitty, rescued from the danger which she had not realized, sprang back. An instant later Roleau had grappled with the intruder.

Hearing the sound of this encounter, Count Sachio and his companions sprang at the intervening door, broke it in. They found two strange men engaged in an encounter whose cause they could not guess, but both of whom undoubtedly were intruders in this place, and who, therefore, might be regarded as enemies.

"The American!" exclaimed Sachio, as now he saw also the young girl, who was endeavoring as best she might to give assistance to Roleau in his struggle with the stranger.

"Quick, excellency, run!" exclaimed Roleau.

The strange man was not easily to be disposed of, but gave even the powerful Roleau all he liked to do to handle him. Meantime Sachio flung himself upon Roleau, his comrades did as much for the stranger.

In the melee, which slipped from place to place upon the floor, Sachio let fall the little bag with the king's half coin—in his excitement he had forgotten that he still had it in his hand. The stranger, whose shifty eyes caught everything, saw the bag as it lay upon the floor.

Working gradually towards the place where the little bag lay, now underfoot, now scuffed aside by the struggling men, the stranger managed to trip and throw that one of Sachio's friends who pressed him most closely. They fell directly before the packet. Swiftly, the long hand of the stranger reached out and caught it up.

There remained for him no more relish for the fight. An instant later, his crossed arm against the throat of his assailant, he broke away, flung through the open window and left the others to shift as they might.

Roleau, still held in the powerful grasp of Count Sachio himself, struggled furiously, all the time calling to Kitty to make her own escape.

"Roleau!" called Kitty. "Quick, he has it—he has stolen it. We must follow him!" And Roleau did his best to shake himself free.

"Not so fast, not so easily," panted Sachio, whose stern grip still held Roleau's collar. "You will not get off just yet. Who are you, to come prowling about my place—thieves against thieves? You shall tell me what all this means."

"Go, excellency, run!" panted Roleau, still to his mistress. "Leave them to me. I'll come when I can."

Kitty turned, knowing that she must act quickly or be taken prisoner herself.

"Follow me, Roleau!" she cried. "Follow me when you can. I'll leave a trail." And as she caught up a book from the table Roleau guessed what she had meant by this—a paper trail!

She looked this way and that, but could see no trace of the stranger who had thus treacherously intruded upon their own plans. A strange feeling came to her mind that perhaps she had seen him elsewhere before now. Where could that have been? Ransacking her memory she concluded that he must have been some one of the band of banditti who had surprised her and her companions in the desert.

Trusting to fortune to bring her aid, she ran forward in the general direction which she supposed the man had taken. She passed from the floor of the gallery, which held no trace of footprints to the softer ground where she might see the trail, and caught it now. He was running in great leaps towards the edge of the forest, where the road came in. Yonder lay the trail to Gretzhoffen. He seemed bound for that. Yes—she presently heard a sound of horse's hoofs.

"Horses!" thought Kitty to herself, recalling the stables where some of Sachio's mounts were kept—indeed, she doubted not that some might be saddled and waiting in the yard. It was true—an instant later her own flying hoofbeats pursued those now lessening in the distance. And as she fled Kitty left a trail.

As for Roleau, his faithful heart was well nigh broken when, having seen his mistress follow his advice and make her escape, he found himself in spite of all unable to join her in the pursuit of the escaping thief who had their coin. The grasp of Sachio upon him did not relax, and now others re-enforced their leader.

"Ah, well, messieurs," he said grinning, at length, "you have the argument."

WOMAN IN BAD CONDITION

Restored To Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Montpelier, Vt. — "We have great faith in your remedies. I was very irregular and was tired and sleepy all the time, would have cold chills, and my hands and feet would bloat. My stomach bothered me, I had pain in my side and a bad headache most of the time. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done me lots of good and I now feel fine. I am regular, my stomach is better and my pains have all left me. You can use my name if you like. I am proud of what your remedies have done for me." — Mrs. MARY GAUTHIER, 21 Ridge St., Montpelier, Vt.

An Honest Dependable Medicine

It must be admitted by every fair-minded, intelligent person, that a medicine could not live and grow in popularity for nearly forty years, and to-day hold a record for thousands upon thousands of actual cures, as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, without possessing great virtue and actual worth. Such medicines must be looked upon and termed both standard and dependable by every thinking person.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.
